LCCI IQ ACCREDITATIONS AND RECOGNITIONS

British Council is a UK's international relations body. They work in partnership with the UK exam boards to help them promote their qualifications overseas.

CEF (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages) is a guideline used to describe achievements of learners of foreign languages across Europe and, increasingly, in other countries. It was put together by the Council of Europe as the main part of the project "Language Learning for European Citizenship" between 1989 and 1996. Its main aim is to provide a method of assessing and teaching which applies to all languages in Europe. In November 2001 a European Union Council Resolution recommended using the CEF to set up systems of validation of language ability. The six reference levels have become widely accepted as the European standard for grading an individual's language proficiency.

LCCI IQs are recognised by the British Council as well as aligned to the CEF and as such are internationally recognised.
